The House That Guarantees Every Purchase

To Control Interstate Shipment of Bad Eggs

Washington, D. C., March 6.—The department of agriculture has had under consideration for some time the application of the federal food and drugs act to the shipment in interstate commerce of eggs in the shell, especially the two classes of eggs known in the trade as "current receipts" and as "rejects" from candling rooms. "Current receipts" contain at different seasons of the year varying proportions of eggs which are filthy, decomposed, or putrid. "Rejects" from candling rooms, as a rule, contain large proportions of eggs which are filthy, decomposed, or putrid, and very small proportions of eggs suitable for consumption.

Under the federal food and drugs act, eggs, in common with other articles of food, are adulterated if they consist wholly or in part of a filthy, decomposed, or putrid substance. Section two of the act prohibits the shipment in interstate commerce of foods which are adulterated and it is plain that this prohibition applies to the shipment in interstate commerce of "current receipts" or of "rejects" from candling rooms or of any other grade of eggs in the shell under the filthy, decomposed, or putrid eggs have been removed.

In the opinion of the department, eggs which contain vermin, such as the shell, matted eggs, black spots, mixed rots, added eggs, black rots, and many other eggs which consist wholly or in part of a filthy, decomposed, or putrid substance, are adulterated.

The investigations of the department have shown that it is commercially practicable, by the method of candling, to eliminate from any given shipment most of the eggs of the kinds which the department regards as adulterated. It is not the practice of the department, however, to have proceedings under the food and drugs act on shipments of eggs unless there are present large percentages of bad eggs than are ordinarily present in recognized commercial grades of candled eggs. The department is informed that that cases of eggs are not allowed to receive even the lowest candled egg grades if the cases contain more than one and one-half dozen or five per cent of bad eggs. Country shippers who are not certain of the freshness of their eggs should candle them before shipping them in interstate commerce.

Bad Eggs Must Be Denatured.
Eggs which are adulterated may be shipped in interstate or foreign commerce for use in tanning or other technical ways without violating the provisions of the food and drugs act only if they are first denatured so as to render them incapable of being used for food. Since it is impracticable to denature eggs in the shell, adulterated shell eggs must be broken out and denatured prior to shipment. The views of the department with respect to the denaturing of eggs are stated in bureau of chemistry service and regulatory announcements No. 7, paragraph 19, and No. 12, opinion 102.

Hot Milk As Stimulant Urged by Dairymen

The following resolution was unanimously passed by the Oregon State Dairy convention at its session in Corvallis, January 3 to 8:

Whereas, It has been well proven that hot milk is a better stimulant in case of chill or exhaustion than whiskey, and that either hot or cold milk, alone or in combination with various flavors or spices, can be made into drinks that are both extremely palatable and nutritious; and

Whereas, The passing of the saloon in the three northwestern states creates a great opportunity for the larger use of milk, by having it kept in the soft drink houses, therefore be it

Resolved, That the president is authorized and instructed to appoint a committee to act either directly or in conjunction with the lately organized dairy council, whose duty it shall be to prepare literature and have it distributed, setting forth the value of hot milk as a stimulant, and of other milk drinks as a beverage, and giving recipes and suggestions for their use; and each member of this association is urged to personally try to induce soft drink houses, coffee houses, etc., to keep hot milk and other milk drinks constantly on hand.

A SOURCE OF KNOWLEDGE

McKees Rocks, Pa., March 6.—Has the millennium arrived? A prophetic white leghorn hen, its owner says, has laid an egg with the inscription plainly engraved on it: "The end of time—1916."

Irish Celebrate Emmett's Birthday

Portland, Ore., March 6.—Irish patriots were on record today in favor of hyphenated citizenship, and against England in her war with Germany. Three speakers at the celebration of Robert Emmett's birthday yesterday held these views:

"We thank God that Germany fights for humanity," said one.
"True Americans must thwart the president and his gang in their purpose to join England or any other nation," said Professor Thomas Dooling.
Dooling Wooten of Seattle, was orator of the day.

The celebration was held at the German house.

PROPOSED TO JOHN D.

Oakland, Cal., March 6.—Mrs. Herman J. Threes, divorcee, admitted today having written a leap year proposal of marriage to John D. Rockefeller, telling him she "loved him for the money he had made."

Combined Losses In Verdun Battle Placed at 200,000

offensive the crown prince's men have captured between 50 and 100 square miles of territory. Paris admits they have wrecked the Douaumont fort, and several villages, but asserts they have failed to break the French front at any point.

On Sunday the battle became fiercer in the direction of the Peter plateau, already drenched with the blood of thousands. Following two hours of almost unrelenting artillery fire, directed upon the defenders' armored trenches, three German brigades advanced in a headlong charge.

A wall of French rifles, machine gun and artillery fire met the Germans. The foremost ranks were riddled. Others, according to Paris reports, halted in the rear in confusion, preventing the advance of reinforcements. Caught thus between two sheets of artillery and machine gun fire the Germans were slaughtered where they crouched unable to advance and refusing to retreat.

The artillery duel has extended into the Argonne forest region where it is reported to be increasing in intensity, perhaps forecasting a renewal of German attacks there.

No Change Today.
Paris, March 6.—Violent artillery fighting on the left bank of the Meuse, west of Douaumont, and on the Woëvre plain was described in today's official statement. No important infantry operations were reported. The French heavily shelled German positions in the Chigny woods, and along the Aconcourt-Malancourt road. Elsewhere the battle front was calm last night.

German Capture 1,000.
Berlin, March 6.—Minor engagements on the east bank of the Meuse, north of Verdun, were reported in today's official announcement. The operations of last night resulted in the capture of 14 French officers and 234 men, it was announced.

Merchant Ship Torpedoed.
London, March 6.—The British merchant Maunda has been sunk, supposedly by a submarine or mine, it was learned today. All hands were reported saved. The Maunda was of 5,700 tons. It is not known whether the vessel was armed.

Raid Turkish Shipping.
Petrograd, March 6.—Russian torpedo boats have raided Turkish shipping in the harbor of Trebizond, sinking several vessels, it was learned today.

The raiders operated within easy range of the coast batteries, which developed only a weak and ineffective fire. It is believed most of the coast batteries have been dismantled to save the guns from possible capture from approaching Russian armies.
